DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. This application does not contain an abstract of the disclosure as required by 37 CFR 1.72(b). An abstract on a separate sheet is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 4, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Joers '048. Joers shows a transportable apparatus comprising: pressure variation means (Fig. 2) housed in an inner casing (2) partially enclosed by an outer casing (A) providing an opening covered by a removable hinged cover (B), a storage compartment (4), a flexible tube (17), an ear plug (E) administering pressure pulses, and a panel for control (2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2, 3, and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Joers alone. Joers shows all the structural and functional limitations of the invention as set forth in the previous paragraphs of this office action including an electrical connector (3) but does not explicitly show a removable first portion, one piece material and the opening, and a battery. Regarding the removable first portion, such a limitation would be considered an obvious design choice that does not affect the use of the invention. It has been held that the mere fact that a given structure is integral does not preclude its consisting of various elements. Nerwin v. Erlichman, 168 USPQ 177, 179 (PTO Bd. of Int. 1969). Regarding the one piece of material, such a limitation would also be considered an obvious design choice that does not affect the use of the invention. It has been held that the use of a one piece construction is merely a matter of obvious engineering choice. In re Larson, 144 USPQ 347 (CCPA 1965). Regarding the opening that the tube passes through, although not explicitly shown in the drawings, the tube inherently must pass through some opening in order to be connected to the pressure means. Regarding the battery, such a limitation would be considered an obvious choice of design for the sake of convenience and portability. Joers is obvious designed for portable use and requires electrical power, the use of batteries is old and well known to provide an obvious art-recognized alternative power source. Regarding the range of pressure that is not clearly claimed, such ranges would be considered obvious to one of ordinary skill to suit various needs and applications.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The phrase "30 cm of water column" is not understood and does not seem to constitute standard pressure units. Claims have been interpreted as best understood.
